

term really paid off

for me!

and course instructors for the term.

Max receives mediocre grades in his randomly chosen Foundation courses and constructive feedback from a professor.

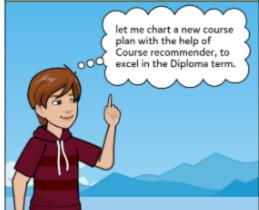

John and Max meet virtually.

Yeah, I should've listened. My grades suffered, and my options are limited for the Foundation for the Foundation

Max begins to rethink his strategy for course selection, aware of the importance of performance in previous terms.

Max begins to rethink his strategy for course selection, aware of the importance of performance in previous terms.

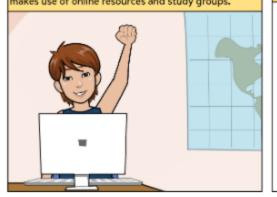

John and Max are now seen studying together in a virtual study group for the Diploma term. John and Max discover that each term's choices impact their academic journey at IITM Online.

As the Diploma term progresses, John continues to excel in his chosen courses, demonstrating the benefit of following the recommended path. He actively participates in discussions, collaborates with classmates, and maintains a disciplined study routine.

On the other hand, Max chooses a balanced mix of recommended and personally interesting courses for the Diploma term. Max finds himself thriving in courses aligned with his passions and strengths. He dedicates more time to studying, seeks help when needed, and makes use of online resources and study groups.

Together, John and Max have discovered the importance of finding a balance between following course recommendations and pursuing their passions Their hard work pays off, and they receive excellent grades in the Diploma term.

